

EPS-iT XT

For automatic creation of EPS files from Quark XPress documents, perfect for display ad work.

Today, most automatic pagination systems require the presence of EPS files. This has given rise to the need for an XTension to QuarkXPress to speed up the tedious and often error prone process of saving display ads as EPS files. EPS-iT has been written expressly with this in mind. Several automatic features have been incorporated in this fully functional and essential utility:

Automatic File Destination

EPS-iT gives the operator two ways of selecting the EPS file destination folder. Either a dialog appears to allow manual selection of any number of destinations, or EPS-iT will store the file in a destination determined by a code letter at the start of the file name.

Automatic File Name conversion

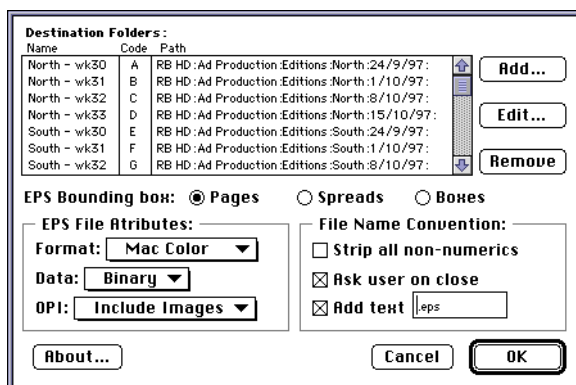

When naming the EPS files, EPS-iT can optionally carry out one or more of these operations on the file name:

- Strip all non-numeric characters from the job's file name,
- Simply allow the user to input a file name,
- Add any extension (such as '.eps' to the file name).

EPS-iT XT is another quality item of publishing software from Automatic Software Limited. Automatic set up of EPS parameters

EPS-iT allows the user to set the EPS format requirements in advance including preview and OPI requirements. Just set up your default requirements in the EPS-iT preferences, and all EPS files will be stored with your attributes.

Automatic Sizing

EPS-iT can either save the total job area, or can calculate the smallest box that will enclose the objects on the page and make this the 'bounding box'

EPS-iT costs just £195 (plus VAT) per copy and runs on Macintosh and PowerMacintosh computers. EPS-iT requires QuarkXPress 3.31 or greater.
